Guidelines for SSC Membership

Full Members

Organizations that serve seniors and people with disabilities in Alameda County may be full members with voting rights, and thus determine SSC's policy agenda and priorities. Full members are also eligible to serve on SSC's Steering Committee, which guides SSC's staff and scope of work.

Selecting dues level - SSC's sliding scale dues structure is linked to the size of a member organization's budget (that is, annual expenditures). Revenue from dues is a cornerstone of SSC's budget and is necessary for covering our core costs and keeping staff. However, participation in the coalition is essential to SSC's success, and ability to pay dues must not be a barrier to membership. Therefore, the following options are available:

Requesting dues reduction - Many organizations have multiple divisions that do not serve seniors, or have budgets highly constrained by restricted funding streams. We ask that members use their best judgment when selecting their dues level, weighing their ability to pay with a recognition of SSC's value to their organization and the aging services system. If you choose to select a dues level that is lower than your organization's formal budget size, simply check the box on the Membership Renewal Form that corresponds to the dues amount that you are selecting, check the box for requesting dues reduction, and send in the form and dues payment.

Requesting dues exemption - Organizations who wish to request an exemption from dues in any given fiscal year may do so by filling out the membership renewal form and emailing it to wendy@seniorservicescoalition.org.

Individual Members

Policy Makers, stakeholders and other individuals who support the Coalition's mission are welcome to participate as individual members. Individual members do not have voting rights, but otherwise may participate fully in all Coalition activities.

Selecting dues level - Several individual member dues levels are suggested on the Membership Renewal Form. Individuals are asked to select payment level based on their ability to pay. Additional donations to SSC are always welcome.
